How To Keep Our Liberty

Fight Against Statism Can't Be Won By Timid

By RAYMOND MOLEY
Tenth of 12 Articles

The person who dedicates himself to the tasks required of a citizen in a democracy must indeed be exceptional. It is a sad commentary on human nature in this age, perhaps in every past age, that so few people are stirred by a sense of duty to participate in public affairs and that whoever dedicates himself to political action, with a full appreciation of its dangers, trials, and dearth of personal gain, must be stirred by unusual moral convictions and courage.

It is a pity, too, that an effort to stir people to participate in politics must be largely based upon appeals either to the material interests of those who stand to lose by present trends or to the possibility of personal advancement in public life.

Those who have been more favored by their position in the moderate or more fortunate ranges of our society should primarily be moved by a moral sense toward the interests of their country. They owe a great deal to the free institutions under which they and their forebears have lived.

Their sense of what the country deserves should move them to save it from error, waste and ultimate disaster.

Citizen Action Must Be Militant

Business and professional men are altogether too prone to limit their political action to applauding the speeches and writings of others to heated private denunciations of the opposition, and to occasional small contributions to their favored organizations and parties. They hate to declare themselves publicly in an election campaign.

The fight against statism cannot be won by the timid and non-committal. People must forego convenience, and security from criticism. They must get into politics personally, directly, and actively. They must be for someone and against someone, despite the consequences. Citizen action must be militant.

All the effort, money, and ingenuity devoted to selecting good candidates, arguing for a cause, writing, printing, and distributing literature, making speeches, and organizing rallies are in vain, if on election day voters do not vote. For the vote is the payoff, the power and the promise of the future. As I pointed out in a previous article 42,000,000 eligible voters did not exercise their right and do their duty in 1948.

Therefore, citizen action can shop in a colossal market of more than 42,000,000 possible stay-at-homes. To be sure, no one knows how they will vote if they come out. A little faith and a bit of knowledge must suffice. If those who want a change believe in their cause and feel that intelligent

Nam II Says U. N. Can't Dictate Reds

MUNSAN (AP)—The chief Communist negotiator in the stalled Korean truce talks today said the United Nations "is in no position to dictate anything either on the battlefield or in their conference."

The blast by North Korean Gen. Nam II came at a 16-minute progress session at Panmunjom, one of the shortest in weeks. Otherwise, Nam used softer words for the second straight day but remained unyielding on the final issue blocking an armistice-prisoner exchange.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, the chief Allied negotiator, agreed to another session Saturday. But he hinted to newsmen afterward the U. N. may impose another recess if the Reds continue their propaganda blasts.

A Red charge that three civilians inside the neutral zone were wounded by Allied artillery last week backfired on the Communists at meetings of liaison officers before and after the main truce sessions.

Marine Col. James C. Murray told the Reds they had been keeping combat troops within the zone. Another meeting of liaison officers was set on this question, which was not discussed by the senior delegates.

Harrison held a whispered conference with his aides before agreeing to Saturday's top-level session. "We considered whether it was worthwhile to come back tomorrow," Harrison told newsmen.

Ban On Sending GIs To Europe Without Congress Okay Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) today announced a new drive to ban sending troops to Europe without the consent of Congress.

As East-West tension increased in Germany, Hickenlooper said a strong effort will be made to write such a reservation into Senate approval of peace treaties with West Germany.

The Iowa senator, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, told a reporter he believed the treaties could be interpreted as giving the President powers to send more troops abroad at his will.

Deny Such Provision

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the treaties carry no such provision or implication.

He added the German pact should not be used to revive the troops-for-Europe issue, subject of the three-month "great debate" in the Senate last year.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), senior Republican on the committee, agreed with Connally.

The Foreign Relations Committee today called Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, for its fourth day of hearings on the treaties. The committee expects to conclude sessions next Tuesday or Wednesday and send the pact to the Senate floor before July 7.

Would End Occupation

The treaties would end the Allied occupation of West Germany and restore almost full sovereignty to that nation. They would bring West Germany into a single-uniform European army, tied closely to the North Atlantic Pact forces now headed by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. They must be ratified by all nations involved.

The administration is seeking prompt Senate approval in the hopes this would set an example for the legislative bodies of the European countries.

The Senate was locked in bitter argument for months last year over whether the President could send more troops to Europe without congressional approval.

The Senate finally passed a resolution approving the sending of four more divisions, as planned by President Truman, but indicated the Senate preferred that congressional consent would be required to send any more. Six divisions now are stationed in Europe.

As new debate on the issue loomed, Communists clamped a tight "security zone" around Berlin. Police were ordered to shoot to kill violators.

$70,206 Suit Is Filed After Traffic Crash

Three Salem residents filed damage suits totaling $70,206 against a Salem woman Thursday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon as an aftermath of a collision in Salem Oct. 28, 1950.

Mrs. Gertrude Thompson is asking $30,000, her husband, Jack A. Thompson, $10,206 and Paul Blaine seeks $30,000 from Mrs. Ella Mae Hackett.

All three petitions allege Thompson was the driver of a car which collided with one operated by Mrs. Hackett on Egypt Rd. Mrs. Thompson and Blaine were passengers in the Thompson car.

Boatner Claims Red POWs Now Under Control

Resistance Cracked; Compounds Meekly Respond To Orders

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner said today he has cracked the resistance of Kojoe Island's 80,000 once-defiant Red war prisoners.

Communist-led POWs knuckled under four times today to United Nations authority. Boatner, the tough prison camp commander, then suspended for two or three days operations to break up the large groups of prisoners. This was to permit construction of new enclosures.

Boatner would not go so far as to say all resistance is ended. But it is "definitely on the ebb and I believe the worst is over," he told a newsmen.

Can Stop Incidents

"I would not be at all surprised at some future incidents... but I have plans to cope with them."

Three prisoner compounds bowed meekly to Allied authority. Then prisoners in another, No. 85, responded to an ultimatum by Boatner and surrendered 21 anti-Communist prisoners.

"I want no speeches," the hard-bitten commander told five Red compound leaders. "Get back to that compound and release those men by 5 p. m."

Delivered Prisoners

At 4:55, the leaders delivered the 21 to the compound gate. Three of the 21 dashed their Red-starred caps to the ground in what has come to be a gesture of anti-Communism on Kojoe.

All 21 told of being starved, beaten and tied. Nine were in such bad shape they were taken to the camp hospital. Two had to be lifted to a truck for removal, said Lt. Col. Walter M. Redden of Aniston, Ala., commander of a valley in which half the compounds are located.

Some prisoners, Redden said, showed "gruesome" multiple bruises on the legs. One man told of being tied up 10 days, being kicked again and again in the legs and getting only one meal a day the last four days.

Tied 15 Days

Another told of being tied up 15 days, the last three in a squatting position with a pole under his knees. When he was released, the prisoner was "scared of everything and everybody."

Compound 85 is where tank-supported American infantrymen forced removal of Communist flags and signs last week.

U. S. GIs Hurl Back Red Counterattack

Seoul (AP)—U. S. 45th Division troops today smashed back a counterattacking Chinese Red battalion on a T-shaped bumpy hill mass on the Korean Western Front.

Fighter bombers, tanks and artillery - mortar barrages helped troops of the 10th and 17th Regiments blast the Chinese off the second knob of the commanding hill west of Chorwon—scene of the hottest war action this year.

The doughboys—with the help of planes, tanks and artillery—won the southern knob of Hill T in a bloody 14-hour dawn to dusk fight Thursday.

The Chinese counterattacked unsuccessfully twice before dawn Friday. Then flares and illuminating shells showed the Reds were massing on a knob near the Allied-held knob.

Allied fighter bombers and artillery a.d. mortar fire kept the Reds off balance three hours. The Thunderbird Division troops attacked about dawn and withdrew after a heavy close-in fight.

The Thunderbirds attacked again in mid-afternoon and took the knob. Hill T lies northeast of two other important hills Americans won last Saturday. The Reds have been trying to re-take them ever since.

4 Key Obstacles Said Blocking Steel Settlement

REDS FLEE TO UN SAFETY—Two North Korean prisoners of war hang on a barbed-wire fence inside Compound 77 on Kojoe Island after escaping from fanatical Reds who were killing anti-Communist POWs. Two UN soldiers move in to aid the prisoners who risked their lives in the break for freedom and safety.

Wage, Price, Rent Controls Extension Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today had two bills to continue expiring wage-price-rent controls, one passed by the Senate and the other approved by its own House Banking Committee.

The government's present authority for all anti-inflation curbs expires at midnight June 30, two weeks from Monday.

The Senate bill, passed 58 to 18 and sent to the House yesterday, would extend this power eight months to next Feb. 28. It also would add a full year—until June 30, 1953—to authority for credit checks and allocation of scarce materials to industry.

Passed 15-3

The House legislation, a one-year extension to June 30, 1953, was reported favorably by a 15 to 3 banking committee vote. But it would end all curbs on consumer and real estate credit, a point at odds with the one-year extension of credit restrictions voted by the Senate.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky.), chairman of the committee, said he expects prompt action on the House bill—debate probably beginning Wednesday and winding up by week's end.

Drop Rule Asking Reports
In final action on the measure last night, the committee added no major provisions which had not previously been approved. Its most important action reportedly was a new provision, adopted 17 to 5, to drop a price regulation requiring certain reports from dealers who sell at below-ceiling prices.

The Senate action was swift after efforts to tack on amendments bearing on the steel strike were abandoned. The bill as it stands contains a request to President Truman that he invoke the 80-day anti-strike injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley law in the steel dispute.

Continued for 8 Months
The Senate measure generally would continue control authority about as is, but for eight months instead of the two years the President had asked. The House version is for one year. This and any other conflict between the two bills would have to be worked out at a Senate-House conference, if the House approves the banking committee version.

Murray, Top CIO Officials, Plan Strategy

Union Shop, Incentive Pay, Seniority Said Unresolved Questions

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Four principal issues block a settlement of the steel strike, President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelworkers declared today.

Addressing a joint strategy session of the union's executive board and wage-policy committee, Murray listed the four stumbling blocks as:

1. The companies' insistence that "the matter of a management clause should be resolved to the satisfaction of U. S. Steel Corp."

2. "All question of seniority should be satisfactorily resolved."

3. "That incentive pay rates should be resolved to the satisfaction of U. S. Steel Corp."

4. "The company (U. S. Steel) fully emphasized its opposition to a provision giving recognition to a union shop."

Murray gave no special prominence to the union shop demand. Regarded Chief Obstacle

The union shop issue is regarded as the biggest obstacle holding up settlement in the 12-day old strike of 650,000 members of the CIO United Steelworkers.

That issue and the Taft-Hartley Act are slated to receive lots of attention at the joint session of the USW's Executive Board and Wage Policy Committee, Murray invited newsmen to hear his address but said they would have to leave during the USW executive session.

Production Cut 90%
The strike has cut production of steel, badly needed for defense, almost 90 per cent. It has plunged slightly more than 100,000 miners, railroaders and other workers into idleness.

Union and industry are so close on wage matters that most observers think an agreement would be worked out quickly if money were the only issue. But up to now, Murray hasn't given an inch on his demand for a union shop. And the companies are just as steadfast in refusing to consider a union shop.

Hit By Truck, Pedestrian Is Hurt Seriously

Carl Willard, 60, of RD 5, Salem, was seriously injured at 11:49 p.m. Thursday when he was struck by the rear trailer of a double trailer-tractor outfit on S. Ellsworth Ave. as he was attempting to catch a bus.

Willard sustained a dislocated right shoulder, a possible fracture of the right ankle, a puncture wound of the right side, multiple lacerations and possible internal injuries. He was taken to the Central Clinic where he is reported "fairly good" today.

The owner-driver of the truck, Michael Jorney, 32, of Detroit, told police that he did not see Willard and didn't know that his trailer had struck the man until he was attracted by an auto driver behind him.

The truck-trailer was stopped behind a bus at the Pershing St. red light then and Willard was found lying alongside the left front dual wheels of the rear trailer.

Willard told police that he ran from the west side of S. Ellsworth Ave. between the two trailers. He said he didn't see the second trailer.

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of late-shopping ladies are feverishly asking themselves:

"What can I get my husband for Father's Day?"

And they tear through a department store like a two-legged tornado in quest of a suitable necktie, bathrobe, or pair of slippers. If the average father wore only what his womenfolk gave him, that's how he'd go to work—clad only in a necktie, a bathrobe, and new slippers.

Naturally a fellow appreciates these things. Who ever had enough haberdashery?

But, ladies, along with that necktie you present your husband this Sunday, why not hand him a real surprise? Why not give him back his bathroom?

There is no gift a man would rather have on Father's Day than a bathroom—his very own bathroom.

Ladies, you may object:

"But Dad already has his own bathroom."

Does he? He may in name—but never in fact. Whether you live in a log cabin or a marble palace of 10 chambers, the odds are he really doesn't have a bathroom. He can enter and leave at his leisure. I have never met a married man who felt he had a bathroom he could honestly call his own, except when the rest of the family was away on vacation.

The chances are that if they designed a house that was all plumbing except for the kitchen, father still wouldn't have that bathroom.

Here's what happens: A family in modest circumstances makes some money and builds a home that has a bathroom for every member—and one left over for the guests.

"This is your bathroom, dear," Mama tells Papa. He can't believe it. After all these years, his secret dream has come true. No more people pounding on the door and calling "hurry up" every time he starts to shave! How can life hold greater luxury?

It may truly be his bathroom for a week or a month. But then he comes home one day and finds the maid's dress hanging there. The next day it rains and he returns to find a drying umbrella in his bathtub.

Soon he learns his son has turned the room into a public library, his daughter wants to dry her hair there, and mother has hung up all her clothes in it while she cleans out a closet. Guests never seem able to find the guest bathroom, but they can always find his.

Everybody leaves a belonging or two in Dad's bathroom.

"You got your own bathroom," he wails. "Why don't you clutter it up?"

This does no good at all, and only injures the feelings of his wife and children. Why is he so cranky? He is cranky because his very own bathroom has been turned into a cross between a warehouse and a railroad station.

A friend of mine, vexed sorely by this problem, made an inventory of the situation.

"I went into my wife's bathroom and counted 77 different articles in it," he said. "Then I went into what is supposed to be my own bathroom and counted 35 articles, of which exactly six belonged to me. The rest were my wife's.

"I can't go in my bathroom to wash after work without hearing her rap on the door and say, 'There's something in there I have to get. Hurry up, and come out.'"

That's what every man wants, ladies,—a bathroom of his own. If you can't give it to him on Father's Day, you might at least deed it to him in your last will and testament. That will give him something to look forward to.

Doomed Girl Given Birthday Party Early

CHANCE, Md. (AP)—The doomed darling of Chance was ready to go back to her hospital bed, today—after the 'best birthday party any little girl ever had.'

Donna Daft won't be nine years old until next Thursday, but the party was held yesterday so she could make the most of it with her rapidly failing senses. She has brain cancer. And doctors say this is "the beginning of the end."

Nearly every nine-year-old in the whole town of Chance came to the party—about 50 of them.

Three times during the day she stiffened and clenched her fists to fight off sudden stabs of pain. Once her mother, Mrs. Thomas Daft, took her inside the house and held her for a while.

Last Christmas the doctors told the Dafts that Donna would live only another six months. According to their original diagnosis, her time would be up in another week or two.

Big Fish Dies From 1 Beer Can Too Many

BEMIDJI, Minn., (AP)—A huge muskellunge that very evidently had had one too many was found dead recently on the shores of Lake Bemidji.

A beer can was lodged in the muskie's throat. Anglers opined the fish mistook the shiny container for a fisherman's lure. Walt Ellis, who made the find, estimated the muskie weighed better than 70 pounds. It was 65 inches long and had jaws 9½ inches wide.

what is a drug store?

THE DRUG STORE is but one unit in a complex pattern of businesses and professions, all of which serve the needs of the community. But it is unique in that pharmacy is both a business and a profession.

A business built on service to the sick cannot be restricted to usual "business hours." The need for medicine and sickroom supplies is usually immediate and urgent. In times of widespread illness, the twenty-four-hour day seems all too short. We are ready, day or night, to serve the pharmaceutical needs of the community.

City busses will operate on their regular routes to the top of the derby track on Damascus Rd., Blackburn Hill from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. Sunday, June 22, the day of the race.

Derby officials recommend that because of the shortage of parking space near the derby track, as many persons as possible should plan to utilize the bus service.

Rebuilds Wrecked Racer
The first derby racer mishap occurred Monday evening when Robert Perkins, 13, was coasting down Arch St., trying out his newly completed car.

A pulley holding the steering cable pulled loose and Robert's racer smashed into a catchbasin in the curb, badly damaging all four wheels and axles, and cutting a hole in the side of the racer. Dejected, Robert sat on the curb a short while looking at the damaged car, then got up and set out immediately to repair it. He purchased new wheels and expects to have the car back in shape in time for trial runs Sunday.

Fifty-one boys have now registered to compete in the Salem race for the chance to represent the city in the National Soap Box derby in Akron Aug. 10.

The Salem race is co-sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Chevrolet Motor Co. with the assistance by other civic clubs.

Our Liberty

people believe in it, they ought to get out as many people as possible. They ought, of course, to beat the bushes with more vigor in sections where people live whose interests are most endangered by socialistic trends.

In the British Parliamentary elections of 1950 and 1951 about 84 per cent of the eligibles voted. In that large turnout socialism was effectively checked. In 1948, in the United States 54 per cent voted! That points to the heart of the problem.

Personal Contact Indispensable

The business or professional man or woman who decides to engage in political activity, in fact any beginner in politics, must learn one lesson above all others: There is absolutely no substitute for personal, face-to-face contact with the voter. In our complex life outside the realm of politics we have the habit of delegation, of contacts by telephone, telegraph, and letters, of dependence upon advertising, publicity releases, and other forms of printed persuasion, or speeches.

But in politics, where the final and indispensable act is the voter at the polling place casting the vote, there is nothing that can be substituted for personal contact. The attitude of organized citizens toward parties should not be hostile. A citizen who participates with other citizens in nonpartisan action against statism can also be a party member.

But we face an immediate, emergent need. The decisive millions are in neither party. And the machinery of one party has been captured on the national level by the statists.

The real function of parties as legally organized groups is to serve the purposes of citizens. In many districts the parties provide the bus, the driver, and the maintenance men. Nonpartisan citizen action can and should furnish the passengers.

A party should not be regarded as a creator of policy. It selects policies and ideas as its means of attracting votes. If enough votes want a policy supported, and if under capable leadership a considerable number of them are organized to work inside and outside a party, that party will adopt their policy.

The level and size of a citizen's movement must depend upon the practical circumstances that confront those who initiate and lead it. Limitations of acquaintance and resources may make it advisable to begin with a city block or a township. The county may be a practicable area. The Congressional district not only offers a wide scope for action, but results there are directly measurable in terms of national influence. A citizen's movement in a Congressional district or a state should be subdivided into smaller geographical units.

Leaders should plan the geographical scope of their activities in line with the number and the area of residence of the voters they want to reach. In whatever area they select, they should have the resources and a potential supply of leaders and workers to reach every voter directly—to push every doorbell—and to learn something about every family. An attempt to organize in too large an area leads to spotty, imperfect work. The best rule was laid down by Theodore Roosevelt years ago: "Do what you can, with what you have, where you are."

Amend The Taft-Hartley Act

If it is the sense of Congress that this is the time for a showdown with a chief executive who has tried to usurp its function, the next move should be to make the Taft-Hartley Act compulsory in labor disputes which imperil the general welfare.

Mr. Truman has been within his rights in refusing to use the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel dispute. Congress let the President have that much leeway; the law says he "may" use it, not that he "must" use it.

This was the loophole which Mr. Truman wriggled through. His union advisers did not want the Taft-Hartley Act used. Their reason is obvious.

The law leaves the final decision in every industrial dispute to the workers—all the workers, not just members of the unions. In the steel industry, if the Taft-Hartley Act had been invoked, all the workers by this time would have had a chance to vote on accepting the steel companies' best offer. They would have lost no time and no income from striking.

If they had voted in their referendum to turn down the companies' best offer, they then could have struck if they felt like it. But there could be no such thing as a strike called and maintained against an entire industry by a handful of union officials representing only their own organizations.

Workers in industry would be given the same right of referendum granted to voters in sovereign states. That is why union officials hate the Taft-Hartley Act. It is why Harry Truman, who sometimes seems to think of himself as a union official instead of the chief executive of the United States, found it to his liking to decide not to use the law.

No future chief executive should be permitted that much latitude in his job.

World Of Peril

In a well-meant and well-executed warning to parents of city children who will visit the country this summer, columnist Garry C. Myers has made the ordinary farm sound like a giant booby trap for tots.

It is, Dr. Myers did not even mention some of the grimmer perils, such as poison ivy, barbed wire and being picked up in the hay baler. But farm folk are going to resent the intimation that the country is peculiarly a place of danger for children. They do not think of it that way.

When their offspring toddles off to spend a day in town, be it known they are briefed on a long list of mishaps which may befall them, too.

They should not fall down manholes whose covers have been removed. They should look sharp for drivers making right turns and left turns while the light is in favor of pedestrians.

They should beware of slickers who take their pictures and then want to take their money. They should be on guard against vendors of ice cream, who lie in wait for hungry kiddies. They should not get aboard the wrong bus. And they should beware of reckless drivers of all types.

On second thought, it might be safer for them to stay home and play with an old scythe in the poison-ivy patch out by the abandoned cistern with no cover on it in the field where the vicious bull runs loose.

The 604 Delegate Question

These are the days when anyone worth listening to on politics carries a slip of paper showing how the convention delegates are going to be split up.

This is the greatest guessing game since public-opinion polls were invented. There are some striking resemblances.

One of these should warn the wary.

It is the presence in both places of the fellow who is still undecided. In public-opinion polls, the people haven't decided how they are going to vote can make the pollsters look silly if too many decide the same way—almost as silly as the people who say they've decided but don't vote.

There are 1,206 delegates in the Republican convention. A bare majority is 604; the first candidate for the presidential nomination to get 604 delegates wins the election.

Both Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower have more than 400 delegates lined up. How many more depends on who's talking, though even the Associated Press now concedes that Taft has 464 first-ballot votes, the heaviest support given a Republican presidential candidate on a first ballot in modern times.

But the catch is the undecided delegates. There are upward of 200 of these. Out of them will come the balance of power in the Republican convention. Get your own slips of paper. Whoever comes closest to the right guess can be a prophet in his own country—with honor and without cost.

If you want to be a successful self-made man, don't leave out the working parts.

A London man walked 9,500 miles in three years. That's a long time for a baby to cry.

U.S. And Vatican

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Observers See Good From Closer Ties

Should the United States government be represented at the Vatican? This question has raised quite a debate in the United States, where it has become the subject of political as well as interdenominational controversy.

To get an objective view of the non-religious aspects of the dispute, this correspondent canvassed opinion among diplomats here, where the Vatican's moral force is centered. They did not wish to be quoted, because it might involve them in public controversy.

Americans who have lived in Rome and are in no way connected with the church or the Vatican, but who have had special opportunities to watch European politics, also made clear certain points about the problem which are usually overlooked.

THE CONSENSUS of those interviewed seems to be that it was a mistake for the President to ask Congress to send an ambassador to the Vatican but that he might properly have requested that a legation, rather than an embassy, be created and that the official representative should be a minister.

It turns out also that this would not have displeased the Vatican and that the latter does not in any way expect the Washington government to reciprocate by permitting a papal nuncio or minister to be accredited to the State Department. The Vatican would be content to retain in Washington its present apostolic delegate, who has no official status.

The principal argument for the opening of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the American government, as set forth by diplomats here, is that it would afford the United States an opportunity to do more for the furtherance of its reconstruction policies with the people in Europe than could be accomplished in almost any other single way. It is pointed out that economic aid to Europe will be made worthwhile if there is political and economic stability on this continent and that the Vatican could do a great deal to achieve such an objective.

"We would have a method," said one prominent American, "whereby the views of the United States could be formally presented to the Vatican. We have no such method now, and neither we nor the Vatican officials are exercising the influence that should be applied to rebuilding Europe because there is no satisfactory liaison between America and one of the most powerful systems of mass communication in Europe.

ANOTHER OBSERVER said that the moral force of the Vatican throughout Europe is not being effectively exerted in behalf of such measures as integration of the Western Allies, the Schuman Plan, and the Federation of European States.

Almost everybody with whom this correspondent talked said it was a big mistake for the diplomatic relationship to the Vatican to be urged on the basis that the holy see is a "listening post" in Europe, which implies a sort of high-grade intelligence service.

One experienced diplomat said it is not what the Vatican listens to throughout Europe that is important but what the Vatican could do if it had a chance to listen officially to some of the many men who are directing economic aid throughout Europe, particularly in such countries as France, Germany and Italy, where there are millions of Catholics actively welded together in political parties with Catholic influence predominating.

There is another important point on which authoritative information was obtained here. Several members of Congress, for example, have asked why the diplomatic work needed to be done at the Vatican couldn't be accomplished for the United States by the personnel of the American embassy in Rome.

THE ANSWER given here is that the Vatican has never recognized the diplomats accredited to the Italian government as being also accredited to the holy see and that to make an exception in any case would demolish the entire diplomatic structure of legations and embassies which the Vatican has had set up for many years with ministers and ambassadors accredited exclusively to the Vatican.

The information obtainable here does not, of course, deal with the arguments of separation of church and state raised in America, but it is interesting to note that there is widespread agreement in Rome among American officials of experience that the late President Roosevelt was right in setting up a relationship between the United States government and the Vatican during the war—a relationship which, it now is argued, will be even more important in the next decade than it was during the war.

Truman Enjoys Show

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman is about the only politician having a good time.

Since he says he wants to vacate his present premises and has nothing to lose personally, he can sit back and enjoy the show.

It's a show the like of which hasn't been seen in these parts in 20 years.

The Republicans, especially the Taft and Eisenhower fans, are beating one another over the head with sticks that get harder every day.

Since that is an occupation which, if pursued with enough gusto, might wreck the Republican party, it can hardly displease Truman.

He wants his own Democrats to win, of course, but at the moment

Blames Water Superintendent

The News: I think it is high time to call a spade a spade relative to the Salem water situation. Especially since there seems to be common talk around City Hall that the water shortage was caused by the water department itself.

It's my understanding that on the order of Mr. BeVier more than half a million gallons was flushed down the main pipe to Cold Run.

I have the most respect for Mayor Vincent, but if Mr. BeVier is so careless as to endanger the fire protection of the whole town, not to mention the inconvenience of a water shortage to the residents, then the water official superintendent should be removed. W.L.

Mama's Loaded for a Long Stay, Just in Case—

Freedom of Choice

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The political phenomenon through which we are now passing may appear peculiar to the peoples of Europe, Asia and Africa, but actually it is none of their business.

It is our business, just as their internal affairs are none of our business. Each people fulfills its own destiny according to its own traditions and habits of mind.

The appearance in this country of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a suppliant for popular approval (and that is what candidates for public office are) is fully within the American tradition. All prior statements as to what he would or would not do are now vitiated. His speech at Abilene and his press conferences are characteristic of the American way. No man is too great to be a candidate for the Presidency; no man is too important to answer questions when he is a candidate.

THIS, BEYOND doubt, is General Eisenhower's attitude. What he has said is not as important, in general principle, than that he said it. He has sidestepped his managers and made himself accountable to the people. This has been the attitude of Senators Taft and Kefauver and even of President Truman, who, while he denies that he is a candidate, speaks and acts like one.

Whether General Eisenhower's speeches and press conferences will add or detract from his strength as a candidate is a matter of futile speculation. When the votes are counted, we shall know and not much earlier.

However, this is clear: If the so-called liberals believed that they have a Republican champion in the general, he has rejected them. An internationalist, Eisenhower differs from Taft lightly on the foreign policy; he will not be contented.

By Galt

He's too swell-headed to play with me since he graduated from the eighth grade—you didn't bring him up right!

trolled by such socialists as the Marxists for Democratic Action.

Therefore, the socialists will remain in the Democratic party. They can support Truman, Kefauver or Harriman. They will have no alternative candidate in the Republican party. One of the arguments against Senator Taft has been that he could not attract the so-called independent voter whose suffrages are needed to elect a Republican candidate.

Among these so-called independents are labor leaders, old new dealers who dislike Truman, socialists who distrust Truman, internationalists who approve of the Truman-Marshall-Acheson foreign policy but who are annoyed by the corruption, indecency, intellectual poverty of the Truman administration, internationalists who wish to save the world by spending the United States into poverty.

EISENHOWER HAS, thus far, given little comfort to such persons. His general position, while not as specific as might be desirable, is not socialistic. Ultimately, he will have to deal, in detail, with the basic question:

How much can the United States afford to contribute to Europe, Asia and Africa when its budget is approaching $100,000,000 a year and when its currency has depreciated to about one-half?

This issue cannot be dodged by the candidates of either party, as it will be forced upon them by a tax-ridden people who can no longer set up reserves for their own future nor estates for their widows and orphans. In Marxian terminology, the American people are being proletarianized by taxation and depreciation of currency. This does not mean poverty; in fact, at the moment, it gives the impression of prosperity.

But any responsible leader among the people must recognize that such an inflationary economy will ultimately—and we are not far from it—produce chaos.

THE CHARGE is made by the Marxian economists that since 1946, the United States has averted a deepening depression by giving foreign aid amounting to dumping and by reinstituting a war economy. They insist that beginning with the British loan of $3,750,000,000, through the Marshall Plan, ECA, Point Four, European Military Aid, NATO, the United States has averted its own depression.

The dangerous thought here is that it might, in a measure, be a correct appraisal. It could be that the "Truman short-cut" has been to employ a highly propagandized fear of Soviet Russia to solve internal political and economic problems. Were it not so, why have we not produced more sinews of war for the money expended? Also, why did we permit Soviet Russia to stabilize her position in China, which is our logical base for defense against Russia?

These questions will loom increasingly large during the next four years. The Communists wait for the dip in our economy to hit at us. They will not hit until that moment. Our candidates need a program for safeguarding the economy.

Sight Unseen

By TRUMAN TWILL

Newest design in men's pants, says a fashion-flash service, is a number known as waders.

Waders look like the garments worn by boys who pull up the legs of their blue denims to keep the bottoms from getting wet when they go wading.

To give waders for grownups that extra something, the designer—a woman, as might be expected—has put a flare on the bottom of each leg, faintly reminiscent of the bell-bottom of many years ago. Anyone for quirts?

Here it is again, the old conspiracy to make men look more ridiculous than they need to look. The long struggle to get men's legs out of sight and keep them out of sight is to be brushed aside as if nothing had been accomplished.

Instead of wasting time with such nonsense, designers would be doing better to give women the blessing of the same concealment which has been a boon to men. There is no further need to subject women with unshapely legs to the humiliation of public inspection. They should be emancipated.

Those women who welcome inspection for their legs can always find an excuse to appear in a bathing suit, or something equally revealing. But for the millions who had better take the benefit of the doubt, the time has come to drop the curtain.

This may come as a shock to those who have not thought through the problem of what had best be done about unshapely legs. But to those who have considered it studiously, it is evident that today, as in days of old when it had to be assumed that grown women had no legs because no one ever had seen them officially, these lovely creatures should not be handicapped by their legs any more than men should be judged by what is for most of them only a necessary evil anyway.

If women could have their own way about this, scarcely more of them would choose to have their gams gandered than men, though the ones who did so choose would make the most of the display. But females with everything to lose and nothing to gain from a leg display would jump at a chance to quit losing.

Waders for men started this, and it now returns to the starting point. There is, or was, a kind of female half-trouser. They were called pedal-pushers, presumably because of some connection with bicycle riding.

These were a midway between the length of a pair of shrunken slacks and the bottom hem of a bathing suit—longer than shorts but not long enough to get wet in water of wading depth. As might be expected, they looked all right on women whose legs would look all right under any circumstances and on all others they looked terrible.

Why shouldn't men and women agree to give no further commercial comfort to anyone who foolishly insists on highlighting their weak points.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Bishop Clicks

The entertainment world has seen a miracle of miracles. One of Broadway's ancient beliefs about what constitutes "poison" to an audience has been flattened. The long-held view of radio and video (swallowed whole from the movie folks) that a program slanted toward a thinking public has two strikes on it has been knocked out of the lot. The sensation of television is a clergyman and a sermon! The more so because they have been on an hour and a night of the toughest competition, Tuesday nights at 8 p.m. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, coming on the video as a top preacher man, has within a few weeks built up one of the largest audiences of the air. Variety could headline it "Parson Panics Airwave Pix."

That there is such a thing as a sleepless sermon and that, delivered with the glow and forcefulness of the old-time evangelists, it has a tremendous appeal, has been rediscovered. Bishop Sheen is one of the great preachers of America. He has just about everything, including stage presence, personal charm, a brilliant mind, a fine voice and a real understanding of the value of a punch line and a laugh. Although a Roman Catholic, he generalizes his talks so that they are easy to take, regardless of creed or sect. And we predict his success will cause a stirring in the churches of all faiths and soon bring into video some additional churchmen of special magnetism and force. The bishop has not only the video audiences and producers thinking; he has the churchmen of the country doing some tall thinking, too. Scholarly, the bishop seems swell company. Forceful and straight talking, he knows the value of a gag. A holy man, he has the screen qualities of an able actor. He knows more about real showmanship than half the top figures of Broadway. There is a hypnotic quality in his gaze, but it is not one that puts anybody to sleep.

Working alone in video without a quiz, a jackpot, a panel, a ballet, a song hit, a seltzer bottle or a tap dancer is close to being regarded as sure death. The video bishop does it, and for a full half hour, without a moment's interruption even for station identification, he triumphs. Maybe the video audience's love for a knockabout act is reflected, for nobody on any program at the same hour takes the beating that Satan takes. And it ain't merely seltzer and custards. The Man With the Horns and Forked Tail looks worse than anybody else in video, including the Texas badman in the Westerns.

Here is a victory of dignity over the slapstick, the church over knockabout vaudeville and clarity over pandemonium. It is a sort of triumph of mind over "patter." You could have had 100 to 1 and your money back six months ago if you had wanted to bet that the comics would even know that a parson was on the air. But not now. The bishop has clicked. In a day when a good sermon has become extra rare, when nine out of ten public speakers are pretty foggy minded and when the world is in a state of deep perplexity (worried stiff to you) he has demonstrated that human beings have minds, that they thirst for truth and that they are gripped by a spiritual subject treated with occasional comedy relief and handled in a way it can be understood.

A guy I like is Chidsey Ghent, He says, "I want no argument."

Among the hundreds of striking paragraphs in Whittaker Chambers' book is this: "Every year the Communist National Students League has been graduating its hundreds from the colleges. These were the years that made possible the big undergrounds and the infiltration of government. From 1930 on a small intellectual army passed over the Communist party with scarcely any efforts on its part. Within a decade from 1930 to 1940, simply pursuing the careers that lay open to them, these young men would carry the weak and stumbling American Communist Party directly into the highest councils of the nation."

Controls Bill

One change voted by the Senate would limit dispute-settling powers of the Wage Stabilization Board, whose steel proposals evoked considerable criticism in Congress.

The WSB, under the change, could enter a labor controversy only if both sides asked and if the Federal Mediation Service said all its remedies had failed. Also, its powers would be limited to wage and other money issues. It would not, for example, recommend the controversial union shop, which requires all of a company's employees to join the union representing them in bargaining negotiations.

The Senate roll call listed 18 Republicans against controls extension; 41 Democrats and 17 Republicans for it.

Voted down were GOP moves to lift all wage-price controls and such less-sweeping proposals as one to lift ceilings on food and other farm commodities.

Adopted was an amendment to remove ceilings on fresh fruit and vegetable prices.

The bill also would put Congress on record as favoring selective lifting of price controls as conditions permit. Four sections to which President Truman objected were retained—import curbs on fats, oil and dairy products; a ban on livestock slaughter quotas; pre-Korea price markups for retailers and wholesalers, and the Capehart provision allowing producers to reflect cost increases since Korea in their prices.

The House committee took no action on imports or the wage board. It voted, however, to de-control fresh fruits and vegetables and lift wage controls on farm labor and small firms with eight or fewer workers.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

The Doctor Answers

An interesting question is raised in today's first letter, although a completely satisfactory answer can not as yet be given because of lack of complete knowledge.

Q—Please advise the cause (and possible cure) of cramps in the legs at night. When this happens what should one do at the time? —M. P.

A—Cramps in the lower extremities occurring during bed rest and awakening the victim are rather common. They usually take the form of muscular spasms with severe discomfort.

Apparently, they are related in most cases to poor blood circulation in the legs, although the available supply of sugar and calcium in the blood also play a part. Many people report that when they get such cramps they must get out of bed and walk around for a few minutes, after which the pain disappears.

Since the ultimate cause of poor local circulation or of lowered sugar or calcium levels in the blood often is hard to determine, the treatment is not invariably too satisfactory.

In general, all persons who are troubled in this manner should have their circulation studied, X-ray films taken, and test made of the blood sugar and blood calcium.

After these tests have been taken it may be possible to give someone who suffers from cramps in the legs at night advice in the form of diet, medicine or other measures which will bring at least some degree of relief.

Q—Please write something about aplastic anemia. —I.D.T.

A—This is a form of anemia in which there is a deficiency of red blood cell formation, among other things, associated with decreased formation of cells in the bone marrow. It may result from several different causes and the treatment therefore can be determined only after the particular cause has been found.

Q—Is it safe to have bunions removed? —J. T.

A—If bunions do not respond to careful shoeing, surgery may be advisable and is often quite successful.

Q—Is there any danger in giving a seven-year-old boy male hormone shots for undescended testes? —Mrs. R.

A—This is the preferred treatment at the age specified and is often successful.

Ohio Synod Leader To Speak

Greenford Lutherans Plan Annex Dedication On Sunday

The congregation and friends of the Greenford Evangelical Lutheran Church will participate in the rededication service of the newly completed church addition at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, with a rededication program planned for 3 p.m.

The morning service will be highlighted by an address by Rev. George W. Miley, D.D., president of the Synod of Ohio. In the afternoon Rev. Michael B. Goldner, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Alliance and president of the Eastern Conference of the Synod of Ohio, will speak on "The Work of the Lord." "God's Building" will be Mr. Miley's topic.

Construction of the addition was first proposed in 1930 when Rev. G. A. Royer was pastor but the project was voted down during the pastorate of Rev. E. O. Holt. In 1940 the need of larger facilities was felt and two years later the Men's Brotherhood made a survey of possible improvements.

Sunday School Superintendent Raymond Rhodes appointed a Sunday School committee to raise money for the building fund in 1945 and in October of that year the project was discussed with Dr. Clyde Xander, officer of the Ohio Lutheran Synod.

When Rev. A. E. Kuitunen assumed pastorate he worked tirelessly with R. J. Dressel and A. B. Williamson, building and finance committee chairmen, for the building movement and when two bequests came to the church impetus was given the plan.

Cornerstone Laid

The Sunday School and King's Daughters Class have contributed considerably to the fund and early in 1951 bids were taken. Ground breaking ceremony took place in July, with the cornerstone laying two months later. Both men and women contributed of their time and money.

Ohio Supreme Court Turnpike Ruling Expected Next Month

By RED SMITH

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ever heard of obiter dicta?

It means opinions volunteered by courts in addition to those needed to decide the issues raised in a case.

Because such opinions are unnecessary, judges say they lack the value of required opinions and thus are subject to attack.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant abstained from that part of the state Supreme Court's 1951 decision upholding constitutionality of Ohio's turnpike law. He acted because of obiter dicta but it escaped general notice at the time.

He voted with the majority in the 6-1 decision ordering State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to pay turnpike engineers, the question at issue. But he did not go along with other judges who went on to uphold constitutionality of the act.

That decision, in the opinion of attorneys, left something to be desired in the strength of the act authorizing toll turnpikes in Ohio.

But attorneys look for the Supreme Court's decision in a currently pending turnpike case to cure any constitutionality weakness in the law.

The court is expected to rule next month on 15 questions raised by A. J. Allen of Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

To raise them in court, he refused to sign revenue bonds needed to finance a $26 million dollar turnpike across Northern Ohio. Commission Chairman James W. Shockey of Columbus wants him ordered to sign. Allen acted to bypass Lucas County suits that Attorney General C. William O'Neill said endangered construction of the 241-mile super-road.

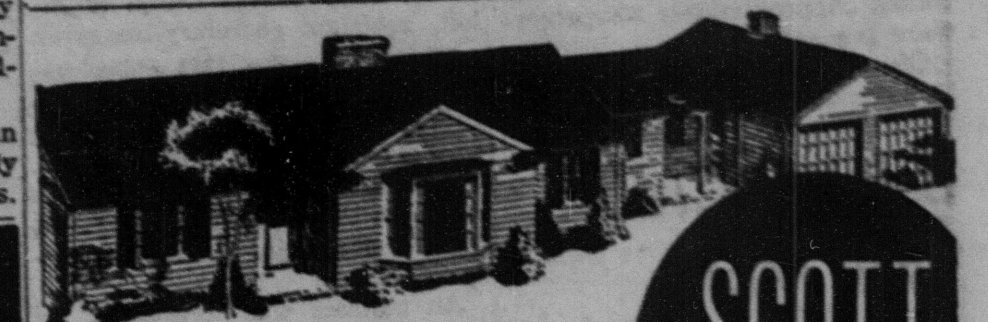

Commissioners concede that an unfavorable decision probably would put them out of business.

But they consider that unlikely even with Judge Kingsley A. Taft of Cleveland off the bench. He wrote the 1951 opinion.

Judge Taft removed himself from the current case because he holds stock in a Cleveland firm that has the job of checking on land for the turnpike right of way.

Doctor Guilty Of Tax Evasion

Dr. Schmuck, Canton, Convicted On 3 Counts

CLEVELAND (AP)—Convicted of dodging $47,286 in federal income taxes, Dr. Harold C. Schmuck, 50, of Canton, was free on $2,500 bond today to await sentencing next week.

The physician and surgeon, bachelor member of a prominent Stark County farm family, was visibly upset by Thursday night's verdict of a federal criminal jury.

Neither he nor his counsel would say immediately whether an appeal was planned.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated five hours, not counting a supper recess, before finding Schmuck guilty on all three counts of a tax-evasion indictment.

The indictment accused him of reporting only $51,000 income for the years 1945, 1946 and 1947 and of having an actual income of more than $150,000 for those three years.

Each year was a count in the indictment, and the maximum penalty on each count is five years in prison and a fine of $10,000. Thus, Federal Judge Charles J. McNamee could sentence Schmuck to as long as 15 years in prison and fine him as much as $30,000.

During a seven-day trial in which his brother, Harry W. Schmuck, a Canton lawyer, aided in the defense, the doctor testified the unreported income cited by the government was given him by his parents. He said his mother, who died in 1945, and his father, who died two years later, had made the tax-free gifts which swelled his income to approximately three times the amount he reported in his tax returns.

STOWAWAYS inside a couch sent cross-country to New York, these three kittens are glad they were finally rescued by Phyllis Belzer in a furniture warehouse and then bottle fed.

amount he reported in his tax returns.

Frank E. Steel, an assistant U. S. attorney, said revenue agents had credited the doctor for all gifts that could be determined from records. Steel emphasized the doctor's failure to recall exact amounts he claimed were given to him by his mother.

Nationwide Weather

By The Associated Press

An early June heat wave in Midwest areas showed no signs of breaking today and share-the-water programs were started in some cities.

The heat was on full force in the country's midlands Thursday with record temperatures for the date in many communities from the Rockies to the Mississippi Valley.

Readings of 100 or higher were reported at 10 of 12 Nebraska weather bureau stations. The state's top mark was 105 at Imperial.

St. Louis sweltered in 97 degree heat, the eighth straight day above 90 and the highest mark for the date in history. Another hot spot in the heat belt was Hill City, Kan., where thermometers zoomed to 104 while at Dickinson, N. D., they bubbled up to 97.

Water reserves at Lincoln, Neb., a city of 100,000, were at the lowest in years. Water consumption in Omaha, population 251,000, Thursday hit 3,600,000 gallons an hour, the highest in history. Both cities started share-the-water programs. St. Louis also reported a near record consumption of water.

Cooler weather extended over the northeast and the Great Lakes region and in the Northwest and Pacific Coast areas.

Thundershowers were reported today in the Upper Mississippi Valley southward into parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

New Note To Moscow Readied

Big 3 Seek Solidarity On German Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Three Powers were reported seeking final agreement among themselves today on the precise conditions under which they would be willing to discuss German issues with Russia.

State Department officials said after talks between Secretary Acheson and the British and French ambassadors here that there was no basic disagreement on the subject of a Big Four meeting "provided certain conditions are met." They did not specify the conditions, but declared that none of the three Western powers was willing to agree to a session on Soviet-dictated terms.

The need for agreement among the three arises from the fact that the latest Western note in a long series of exchanges with Moscow is now in preparation. The Russians have been insisting on a Big Four session to take up the unification of Germany and the preparation of a German peace treaty.

In previous notes, the Western powers have insisted that prior to a discussion of those fundamental problems the four nations should agree upon a "United Nations" or other "impartial" investigation of the opportunity for free elections throughout Eastern and Western Germany.

When work on the projected Western note started, Washington, Paris and London reviewed their positions and came up with suggestions as to what they should tell the Russians this time.

The French have been reported favoring an offer to meet with the Russians at an early date provided the conference would be limited to the conditions for holding free elections in Germany and the circumstances in which the unification would be effected.

There have been some indications that the British also would be willing to make such a proposition but the United States has been represented as not favoring a meeting until agreement is reached with Russia on making an impartial inquiry into political conditions throughout Germany.

British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet conferred with Acheson late yesterday. They conceded the problem of drafting a note to the Russians had been discussed but that was about all they would say.

COMMUNIST plans for compulsory arming and military for East Germany seems to have been put into effect with these photos taken at Leipzig, Germany. The training is to include all persons, men from 16 to 60 and women 18 to 45. The boys (top) and girls (bottom) are part of the German communist youth organization being trained under the supervision of the East German People's Police, nucleus of a new German Red army.

Indians Encounter New York Today After 7-4 Win Over Nats

Reynolds, Garcia Get Mound Duty

Feller Wins Sixth Victory; Reiser Homers

CLEVELAND (AP)—The front-running New York Yankees, winners in 10 of their last 11 games, open a four-game series here tonight using their ace, Allie Reynolds, against Cleveland's best pitcher, Mike Garcia.

About 40,000 fans are expected to watch the two big right-hand stars duel.

The Indians' 7-4 victory in Washington Thursday enabled them to come home from their second eastern trip with a six won, five lost mark. The Yanks, playing in their home park during that period, picked up four full games on the Tribe and came up from fifth to take the league lead.

Three Indian regulars were resting with injuries when Cleveland bunched six hits for six runs in the third inning.

Third baseman Al Rosen got a bruised hip sliding into second Wednesday night, so Hank Majeski—bought from Philadelphia's Athletics Monday—played the entire game at third and got two singles.

Dale Mitchell, had to leave the game with a leg injury, and was replaced by Pete Reiser, who slammed a homer over the right field wall off Don Johnson to bring home three runs in the big third inning. Harry Simpson doubled the first two across and scored the third one on Bob Avila's single.

Those runs were enough to enable Bob Feller to win his first victory in two weeks and his sixth against four losses.

Feller gave four walks and 10 hits, but he allowed only one run until the eighth. A triple by Pete Runnels and a grounder by Ken Wood produced that marker in the fourth, but Cleveland got it back in the fifth on Reiser's walk and Luke Easter's double off Joe Haynes, second of four—Washington hurlers.

In the eighth, Feller was rapped for every variety of base hit. Mickey Vernon started it with a homer, then Runnels doubled and Wood tripled. After the second out, Mickey Grasso singled home Washington's third run with the last hit of the rally.

Yankees Setting Pace With Ten Wins In Last 11 Contests

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Casey (the prophet) Stengel leads his New York Yankees west today in first place—just like he said he would.

Stopping off in Boston on the way home from his first western swing, Stengel gave out with the following:

"If we can win anywhere, it's at home. We should be able to go up and grab the lead sometime in the next two weeks."

As the Yanks then nestled in fourth place, five games off the pace, it sounded like a bold prophecy.

"I was afraid they (Cleveland) had me after taking those three in New York," said Casey. "But they didn't grab their opportunity. They let Boston and us get back and we're going to stay."

Stengel wasn't kidding. Once the Yanks got home they proceeded to blast away at a 12-of-15 pace, winning 10 of 11 from the western teams. Both the Yanks and Red Sox caught Cleveland—and passed them.

The Yanks' first test of their second western swing won't be long delayed. They bump into the Indians tonight, opening a four-game series. Allie Reynolds (7-3), who has turned in 10 straight complete games, faces Mike Garcia (8-3) in the big battle.

Young Tom Morgan came up with a fine three-hit shutout in yesterday's Yankee Stadium finale, 3-0, over last place Detroit.

It was the first complete game of the year for Morgan. His pitching was backed up by Hank Bauer's seventh homer and three straight hits by rookie Bob Cerv as the Yanks ran their win string to six.

Sid Hudson, acquired from Washington Tuesday, kept the Boston Red Sox in step with the Yanks, only 13 percentage points out of first place. Hudson needed relief help from young Ivan Delock in the ninth to subdue the enraged St. Louis Browns, 7-5.

The seething Browns played the game under protest because player-manager Marty Marion had been suspended indefinitely because of Wednesday's argument with Umpire Bill McGowan.

Hoot Evers' home run and two doubles by Billy Goodman led the attack on loser Duane Pilette, first of three Brownie pitchers.

Cleveland also clung on the Yanks' heels, only a half game back, by beating Washington, 7-4, for Bobby Feller's sixth win. A six-run explosion, including pinch-hitter Pete Reiser's three-run homer, ruined Spec Shea in the third.

Feller, knocked out in his last two starts, went the route with a 10-hitter including Mickey Vernon's homer, a pair of doubles by Pete Runnels and three singles by Mickey Grasso.

Chicago climbed past Washington into fourth place, only four games out, with a 10-4 verdict over Philadelphia. Chico Carrasquel's two triples and Sherm Lollar's two-run homer led the 14-hit attack on loser Alex Kellner and two others.

In the National, St. Louis continued to mess up the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers, 15-10, to make it three out of four. The loss cut the Browns' lead over idle New York to 3½ games. The Giants' game at Cincinnati was rained out.

With the thermometer hovering around 97, the Cards and Brooks staged a real knock-down-drag-out brawl. Preacher Roe, with his 5-0 record, was knocked out in the first and Gerry Staley (9-3) was routed in the third. Bill Werle was the eventual winner over Clem Labine as a total of 35 hits were collected off nine pitchers.

Roe blew a 4-0 lead in the stormy first that saw such ordinarily faultless players as Enos Slaughter, Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst commit errors.

Gil Hodges hit two homers and Del Rice one in the 3-hour 3-minute struggle.

Chicago continued to scoot in pursuit with a 3-1 victory over the Phillies for the Cubs' 15th win in their last 19 games. Warren Hacker, getting his second starting chance, won his fourth with a five-hitter. Robin Roberts gave up all 11 hits before yielding to Jim Konstanty.

Hank Sauer's best was a routine fly ball that drove in the first run. Toby Atwell's double and Hacker's single knocked home the other scores. Del Ennis' fifth homer gave the Phils their run.

Lew Burdette pitched one-hit ball for eight relief innings after replacing Ernie Johnson with two runs in and nobody out in the second as Boston whipped Pittsburgh, 11-2. Paul Burris hammered a homer, double and two singles to drive in six Boston runs and hang a second loss on Joe Muir.

Broch Leads National Open; Hogan Second

DALLAS (AP)—Al Broch is quite familiar with one-day sensations in golf. He has been one; he has played second-fiddle to others; he's seen them flash to the front and disappear into obscurity.

Broch, a 40-year-old teaching pro from Garden City, N. Y., who plays only part of the winter tour and in a few major events each year, held that sometimes enviable position today after shooting an opening round of 68 in the 52nd National Open championship.

That was one of two sub-par rounds manufactured by the field of 162 in the first day of play on the heat-blanketed Northwood Course. Ben Hogan, the defending champion and winner of three National Open titles in his last three attempts, had a 69.

Three others, all in the middle or past-middle age bracket, fired even par 70's. They were Sam Snead, one of the three top favorites in pre-tournament reckoning; 4-year-old Horton Smith, the PGA president who is playing in his 21st National Open, and Dick Metz, who retired last year to run a ranch and returned to tournament golf.

None of the others could buck the combination of 94-degree heat, strong winds and the pressure of playing in a national championship before a huge opening-day crowd estimated at 12,000.

Toledo Falter At Gate, Field; Will Continue

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Toledo Mudhens, faltering at the gate and on the field, will continue to play ball in Toledo—at least for the time being.

American Association directors reached no conclusions after meeting in closed session for five hours here Thursday about what to do with the Toledo baseball franchise.

Representatives of Charleston, W. Va., repeated offers to have the independently-owned Toledo club moved to their town.

The West Virginia City, in a pre-season bid, offered owner Danny Menendez a $40,000 gift and guaranteed him a season gate of 175,000. But Toledo fans purchased some $40,000 in tickets before opening day and the bid was rejected.

Reports said the Charleston delegation repeated the same bid at Thursday's meeting — adding a guarantee of 2,500 attendance for each of the remaining 35 at-home dates, and a 175,000 seasonal attendance for the next three years.

Jim Burris, Association President Bruce Dudley's right-hand man from Louisville, Ky., said negotiations were at a standstill but not dropped. He said "Charleston isn't out of the picture yet."

Alex Wilson, Notre Dame track coach, was undefeated at 40 and 80 yards as an undergraduate at teh South Bend institution.

LEADING BATTER — Chicago

Cubs Outfielder Hank Sauer dries his head in dressing room at Chicago's Wrigley Field after hitting three home runs in Wednesday's game with Philadelphia Phillies to give the Cubs a 3-2 victory. Hank boosted his batting leadership in the major leagues to 18 home runs, 58 runs-batted-in, and batting average of .352.

Amvets Whip Bliss, 4-1, In AA Game To Tie For Lead

Kline Twirls No-Hit Contest

Salem Tool Scores 22-0 Win Over Furnace

The Salem Amvets forced a tie in the Class AA Softball League last night at Kelley Park when they whipped Bliss, 4-1, although getting just one hit.

Leo Kline, Salem Tool pitcher tossed a no-hitter at the Electric Furnace in a Class A tilt as the Toolers tallied 22 runs for a 22-0 victory.

THE AMVETS's Dempsey Balesley managed to get the only hit of the evening off Dick Jackson, Bliss hurler, but the Amvet nine tallied four runs while John Zines held the Blissmen to six hits and a single tally.

The Vets pushed a run across in the last of the fifth frame but Bliss gamely tied it up in the first half of the sixth inning. However, putting together a hit, four walks and a hit batsman, the Vets tallied three markers in the bottom of the sixth and held the Bliss in the top of the seventh to take the victory.

KLINE STRUCK OUT eight Electric Furnace batters as he kept the foes under control for five innings to gain the third no-hit game against the Furnace men. Leetonia's Tom Altmore hurled the first no-hitter against them and Mike Paster of Rufers pitched the second.

Meanwhile, Salem Tool took advantage of slow pitching and sliced out 18 hits as they tallied their 22 markers. Vic Lake led the hitting with four hits in four trips to the plate. Tom Cope and Jim Cosgarea also were strong at the plate with 3 hits in five trips.

Jim Layden slapped a home run for the winners with two mates aboard. Layden had two bingles for four trips.

K of C forfeited to Rufers in the other scheduled game of the evening.

FIRST BIRDIE—Tommy Bolt, the Durham, N. C. pro who has a reputation for breaking his clubs, tensely watches his ball fall in the cup of the first green for the first birdie of the National Open Golf Championship which opened at the National Club in Dallas, Tex., Thursday. Par for the 365-yard dogleg hole is four.

Player With Wrong Club Has Unbeatable Handicap

By JACKIE BURKE

Selection of the club plays a tremendous part in golf.

A player can give himself an almost unbeatable handicap by selecting the wrong club. He's like the batter with two strikes. I've seen many on average golfer handicap himself by picking the wrong club.

Even if he happens to make a good shot with the wrong club, which is highly unlikely, it's still bad golf.

If an average 85 golfer selects the wrong club five times in a round, you can see what it can do to his score.

Never select a club with which you will need to baby a shot or are forced to press.

Choose the club that will let you use your natural stroke.

THE GOLFER, elements and the standing of the match must be taken into consideration in selecting the club.

Playing into the wind you might select a club that would push the ball through. Playing the same hole when there was no wind, you'd probably choose another club.

Traps and the condition of the fairway must be considered.

Sometimes, on a hard-baked, lightning-fast turf, a pitch and run shot to the green might be indicated. Playing the same shot on soft, spangy turf that holds the ball better, a straight pitch to the green probably would be more successful.

FIFTY YARDS from the green, with the cup on the rear side and the intervening fairway, rough or soggy, you don't want to try and pitch and run with a five iron. Take the wedge and stick the ball right up to the pin.

Circumstances alter cases.

Don't let anyone tell you what club to play, for no one can. Play your own club. If you know yourself and your capabilities, you should know how to select the right one. Experience and practice, plus a common-sense appraisal of conditions, give you the answer.

Continued indecision after you have selected the club is apt to be disastrous.

THE CHAMPION throws out any club that cuts into his confidence. Gene Sarazen had the right slant.

"Whenever I pulled a club out, I was working with an old friend," says the winner of them all.

"Here's a fellow I know." I would feel as I gripped my masher, for example. "I've had a lot of dealings with him."

"I can depend on this fellow." You have to have confidence to play the club for all it is worth.

NEXT: Analyzing errors.

Bush Recalls Ruth's Last Clout

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Guy Bush remembers only too well the 714th—and last—home run the late Babe Ruth hit in baseball's major leagues.

Bush was the pitcher who served up that circuit clout, and he explained during a recent visit here that "the last time I saw the ball, it looked like a marble."

The date was May 24, 1935, at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh. Bush was hurling for Pittsburgh, while Ruth—virtually at the end of his record-setting career—was out-felding for the Boston Braves.

RUTH CRACKED three homers that day in what proved to be his own flamboyant farewell. The first one was off Red Lucas. But it was that last one which etched itself in Bush's memory.

"The ball sailed high over the upper deck in right field, and I guess it must have rolled for miles," said the former major leaguer who now manages the Battle Creek, Mich., Belles of the American Girls League. He could have added that it was the first time anyone ever had driven a ball out of Forbes Field at that spot. The feat was not duplicated for another 15 years.

SHORTLY AFTER that big May 24, Ruth quit as a player. The very next day, in Cincinnati, he went down on strikes three times and popped up once in the face of St. Johnson's low, slow curves.

The 49-year-old Bush, who hurled for 14 years for the Chicago Cubs in addition to serving Pittsburgh, the Boston Braves, the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati, loves to recall his experiences.

But on a stop here with the Battle Creek Belles, the conversation returned again and again to Ruth's last homer.

Bush always has felt that there was something distinctive about being the pitcher who served up the last "fat" one to the game's greatest slugger. It was number 714 in the Bambino's career.

Duke Captures Initial NCAA Playoff Game

OMAHA (AP)—Unless there are a couple of surprises, that foxy old major leaguer Jack Coombs is going to retire with the realization of his fondest dream—an NCAA baseball championship.

The former Philadelphia Athletics hurler is leaving Duke University this season at the age of 70. He wants the NCAA title as a climax to his 32 years of coaching.

On strength of their performance in beating Oregon State 18-7 in the first round, the Blue Devils appear ready and able to satisfy their coach.

This third renewal of the young tournament is a double elimination affair. That means a team would have to lose twice to drop from the running and the baseball experts around here don't believe Duke is going to lose twice in this meet.

Anxious to confound the railbirds were Missouri, Holy Cross and Penn State in the winners' bracket and Texas, Western Michigan, Colorado State and Oregon State in the losers' bracket.

Holy Cross, coached by Jack Barry, who like Coombs, is a former member of the Athletics of long ago, came up with a nifty job of defeating Western Michigan 5-1 behind the five-hit hurling of Jim O'Neill.

In the other games, Penn State whipped Texas 5-3, and Missouri trounced Colorado State 15-1.

"Welmacht Tennis" (World Power Tennis) by Roderick Menzel is the first post war tennis book published in Germany.

Lightweights Araujo, King Battle Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—George Araujo, fast climbing young lightweight fast climbing young heavyweight Madison Square Garden debut tonight with Arthur King of Toronto, recent upset winner over Paddy Demarco.

The 10-round bout will be carried on ABC network radio and NBC television at 9 p. m., EST.

Araujo, 21-year-old combination puncher-boxer, rates a strong 2½ to 1 favorite to whip King who labored for years in the shadow of his stablemate, ex-lightweight king Ike Williams.

Will Regulate Sport Seasons

CHICAGO (AP)—A five-man committee to gauge proper extent of practice and playing seasons and number of contests in intercollegiate sports today was appointed by the president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The NCAA, at its 46th annual convention last January in Cincinnati, authorized President Hugh C. Willett to designate such a group.

Walt Beyers, NCAA executive director, disclosed Willett had selected the following committee:

Chairman, Paul J. Blommers, faculty representative, University of Iowa; T. J. Hamilton, athletic director, University of Pittsburgh; Leo A. Harris, athletic director, University of Oregon; Ray Oosting, athletic director, Trinity College, Conn.; and Wallace Wade, commissioner, Southern Conference.

The committee will send an extensive questionnaire to all member colleges to determine their present practices in each intercollegiate sport and submit recommendations to the NCAA council.

Hornsby Wants Job; Claims Browns Will Pay

CHICAGO (AP)—Wanted: A baseball job. "No screwballs need apply."

That's from Rogers Hornsby, the deposed St. Louis Browns' manager who has returned to his Chicago home.

"I can take it easy now," he said. "But I would rather be busy—I mean, if I can get a job with some real guys. The Browns have to pay for the rest of 1952 and all of 1953 and 1954 on my contract. They're going to pay me every cent, no settlement."

Hornsby said if a minor league proposition came up he would consider it—"But no screwballs need apply—I've had enough of that."

BEGINNING of the END

The tank crashes through the compound gate.

UN infantrymen hold back the Communist POWs.

The Red flag is smashed down into the dirt.

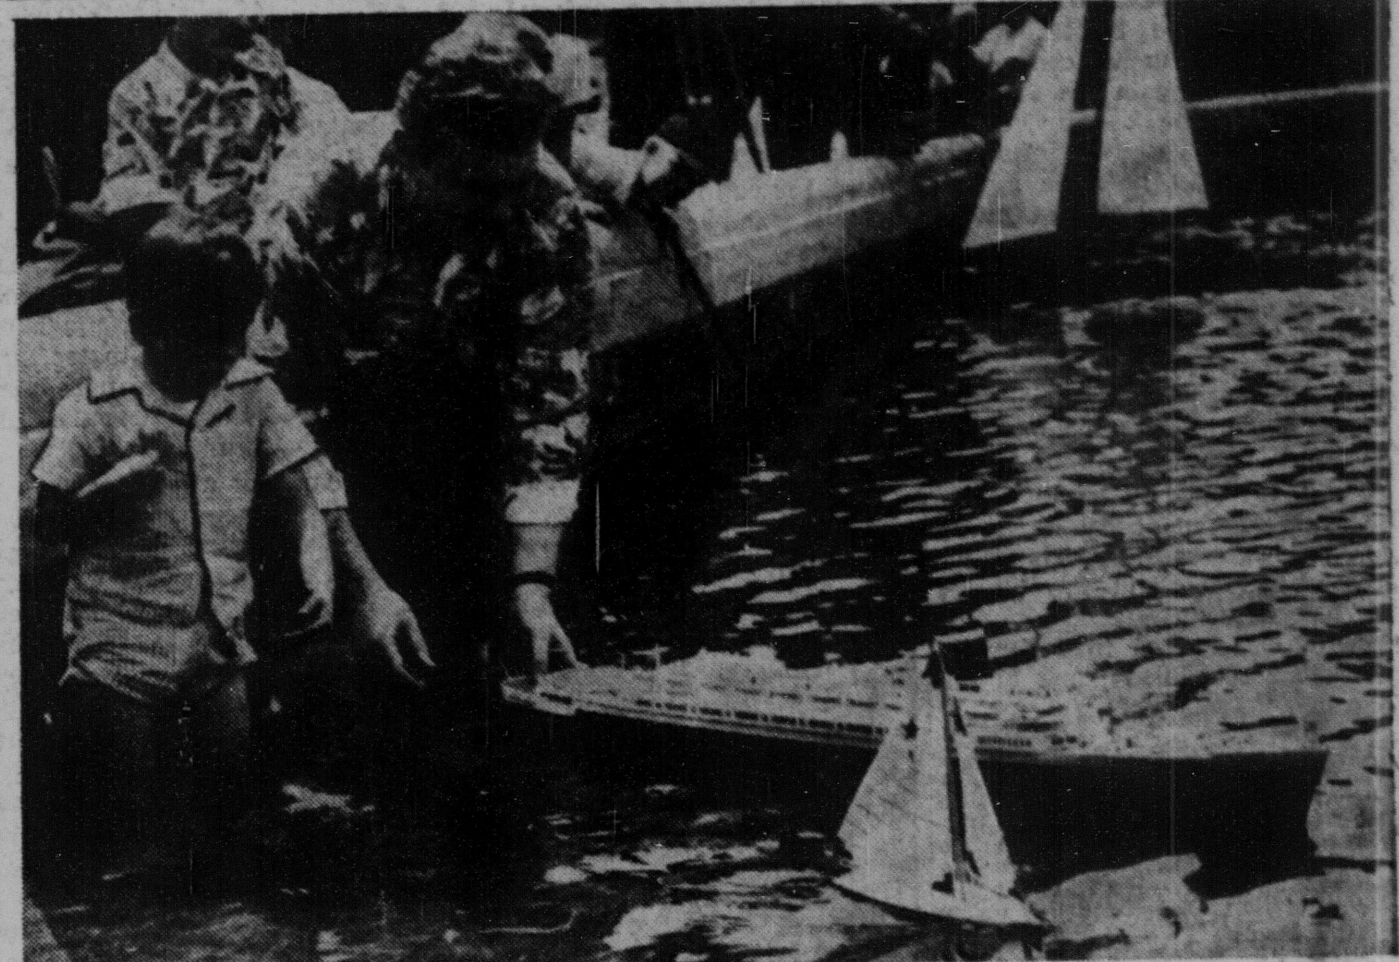

BLOODY KOJE ISLAND, where approximately 100,000 Red prisoners of the Korean war are held by United Nations forces, is quieter now. But the enforced quiet was obtained by a bitter battle that took the lives of 38 Communists and one American GI. Marking a "get tough" policy in the seething POW compounds, the "beginning of the end" was smashing down of Communist flags and offensive signs. TOP DOG of the U. S. 202nd Military Police company at Salzburg, Austria, is "Sergeant Mike," who was raised from a pup by Gen. Mark Clark, who now is supreme UN commander in Far East! Sgt. Tom Ferretti, Tuckahoe, N. Y., watches dog.

FULL STEAM AHEAD goes a sleek 50-inch scale model of the superliner United States as it races alongside the little sailboat of skipper Glenn Kachigan, 4, in New York's Central park. The model is equipped with four motors. Owner Frank Cronican gives it a trial run.

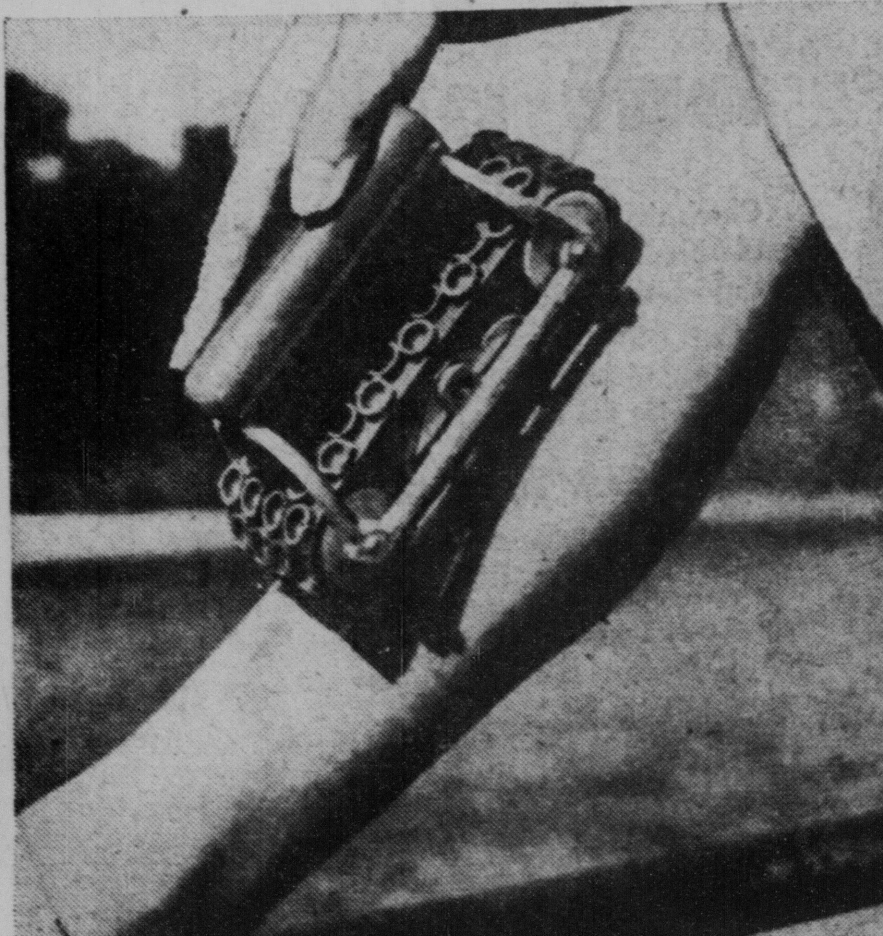

WHAT'S NEW? Here are the latest creations of a group of Paris inventors. A model demonstrates what is known as a "rotocap" or hair-curling device (top) and a roller (bottom) for massaging of ailments from tired muscles to headaches.

DON'T TALK ABOUT your seasonal cleanup chores around the house to these workers at the Delta-Mendota canal of California's Central Valley project. They must do a spic and span job on the 117-mile-long "big ditch" before it can deliver two million gallons of water a minute.

Firestone Farm On Itinerary Of Texas Ranchers

More than 200 Texas ranchers will include the Firestone Farms at Columbiana on their 15-day tour through Canada, the East Coast and the Middle Western United States.

Traveling by a special train, the visitors from the Lone Star state will arrive at the Firestone Farms at 8:30 a.m., June 20.

Their morning will be occupied with an extensive hay wagon convey tour of the 1,000-acre farm that was the birthplace of Harvey S. Firestone, founder of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

There, the ranchers will get a firsthand look at a well-balanced farm program where the latest soil conservation techniques are employed. They will see a complete land-use program where contour farming, strip cropping, pasture rotation, terraced orchards, grassed waterways, managed forests and land reclamation are paramount in the year-round planned program.

The main crops produced are hay, strawberries, tomatoes, corn and potatoes.

The Texans will take special pride in the 100 head of Texas-bred Hereford feeder cattle that are thriving on the deep-rooted grasses and legumes of the Buckeye state.

From the farms, the visitors will travel to Akron where they will be greeted by Firestone Company executives for a factory tour.

Game Warden Spoils Family Fishing Trip

The elongated arm of the law reached back into three generations Friday night at Meander Game Refuge and came up with one arrest for illegal fishing.

Game wardens Earl Ressler of Mahoning County and his son, Elwood, of Meander Refuge caught a 14-year-old youth with two small-mouth bass and a bluegill. The youth denied anyone was with him, but further search revealed his grandfather, Virgil L. Talbot, 60, of Mineral Ridge was nearby.

Mr. Talbot admitted catching the bluegill and was fined $50 and costs for illegal fishing by Justice of the Peace Sol H. Gifford of Lordstown Township. No charges were filed against the youth.

After the two were apprehended, the game wardens encountered the youth's father hunting his offspring who was supposed to be in the garden hoeing. The grandfather liked the fishing idea so well he and his grandson both went fishing.

Steel Strike

A union shop is one in which all workers must be union members. Old employees who don't belong have to join to keep their jobs. New employees must join in a stated time, usually a month.

Maintenance of Membership

Since World War II days, most steel mills have operated under a maintenance of membership arrangement. That calls for old employees to retain their union or non-union status but leaves new employees free to join or not as they choose.

The union shop controversy may have figured in the refusal of USW members to accept a proffered contract in Coatesville, Pa. In that steel town, Lukens Steel Co. offered to grant wage increases of from 12 1/2 to 26 cents, with fringe benefits. But the offered contract called for maintenance of membership. The union said no, it wouldn't sign.

Wage talks between Wheeling Steel Corp. and the steelworkers collapsed last night at Wheeling, W. Va. The company offered a 24-cent an hour pay hike for the men who now average about $1.95 in the entire industry.

Picket lines at the Pittsburgh plant of the Crucible Steel Company of America plant opened to let out a sizable shipment of titanium sheets which the army had ordered. Titanium, a relatively new lightweight, strong metal, is being used in the manufacture of jet engines.

Meanwhile, Mobilization Director John R. Steelman tackled the problem of removing from the picketed steel yards and warehouses metal which already is finished or partly finished and delivering it to munitions plants. Union leaders attending a Washington conference agreed to present Steelman's proposal to the meeting today.

Fast breaking developments in the steel crisis turned the strike spotlight on Pittsburgh after the House Banking Committee in Washington voted 15 to 10 against a proposal that President Truman be empowered to seize the steel industry.

The Senate had previously voted against somewhat similar plans to give Truman seizure power but it was the President's first rebuff in the House.

The Senate has served notice on Truman that he should use the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to get a court injunction against a strike.

Man Catches 5-Pound Bass At Dunn Eden

Things are looking up for district fishermen. Earl Ressler, Mahoning County game warden, reported today Otto Kridler of RD 4, Salem, caught a five-pound bass Friday night at Dunn Eden Lake. The fish measured 21 inches and was caught on a spinning rod and reel with an eight-pound test line. Bait used was a jitterbug (artificial plug).

Junk Yard Owner Faces Wage, Hour Hearing

CLEVELAND—Government civil action was started in U. S. Court here today against Harry Prizant, doing business as the Columbiana Junk Yard, Columbiana.

The Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor is seeking an order restraining Prizant from future violations of the minimum wage, overtime, child labor and record-keeping provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

According to William S. Singley, regional director of the Wage-Hour division, Prizant paid some of his employees less than 40 cents an hour prior to January 25, 1950, and less than 75 cents an hour since the minimum was raised. The Labor department also charges Prizant failed to pay time and one-half for hours worked in excess of 40.

He also employed a minor 16 years old as a truck driver, Singley said a final charge is Prizant's failure to keep adequate and accurate records.

Singley estimated back wages due employees amounted to approximately $1,000.

Politics

Maryland—could knock a seesaw nomination battle sky-high. In fact, there was considerable talk of a coalition of those three states.

Negotiations Underway

Maryland's Gov. Theodore McKeldin, pledged his state's 24 votes on the first ballot as a favorite son candidate, said Thursday night such negotiations are under way. After the first ballot, McKeldin is believed able to swing 18 to 20 of the Maryland votes.

Pennsylvania Gov. John Fine, credited with control of 32 of Pennsylvania's 70 votes, said he had not proposed any three-state get-together. Arthur Summerfield, Michigan GOP national committeeman, declined to say what he thinks Michigan's uncommitted votes—3 out of a total 46—might do.

An Associated Press survey shows Pennsylvania's delegation divided 20 for Eisenhower, 18 for Taft and 32 following Fine. In Michigan, it's seven for Eisenhower, six for Taft and 33 cued to Summerfield's action.

Eisenhower gets a chance to make a pitch for Michigan support tomorrow. He will confer with Michigan delegates and party leaders and deliver a major speech in Detroit.

Democrats, meanwhile, add a few more delegates to their July 21 Chicago convention list today—16 in Connecticut and a 22-vote group in Arkansas. Both actions are in state conventions.

President Truman's news conference yesterday had a political ring to it. In reply to questions, he took a hands-off attitude toward Gen. Douglas MacArthur's delivering the keynote speech at the GOP convention.

He said he regards the role as political but has not discussed it with the Pentagon which also has said it plans no action. Pressed about Army regulations banning political activities for its personnel, Truman said he would call down Army officials if he thought they got out of line. Wait and see, he said.

The President was asked about speculation that Illinois Gov. Adlai

Stevenson might submit to a campaign to draft him for Democratic nomination. Scott Lucas, former Illinois senator, predicted after a White House call earlier that Stevenson would accept.

Truman said he just didn't know, that Lucas as an Illinoisan is in a better position to judge.
